Luz Casal is back with a new record, Las ventanas de mi alma, the most personal and autobiographical of her career. Warm-hearted or furious, always eclectic, Luz Casal will present live her most intimate and reflexive album, without any mask or artifice, frank and passionate as always and more than ever affixed to reality. As the undisputed reference of music in Spanish, Luz Casal's return following five years without publishing any new songs, and three without going on tour, is quite an event. Reluctant to settle for the benefits of four decades at the top, Luz explores new sounds and addresses timely topics to offer a forceful and captivating album and live performance, in which she will present her new songs and go over her major hits. The album contains twelve pieces that include ballads, boleros, the inspiring and optimistic 'Hola, qué tal', which reveals fragments of more than two thousand conversations she had during the lockdown with persons who were feeling alone and needed help, and the innovative rock song 'Antes que tú'.
