Their songs are 4 minutes of cinema. Their lyrics are exotic stories of worldly, romantic globetrotters. Their music is of international quality. International tours, Grammys and Latin Grammys, millions of records sold, a career of 23 years... They are still Café Quijano, and have just launched Manhattan, one of the most complete Latin pop records of recent decades.

La taberna del Buda was the record that in 2001 crowned the group's international expansion with hits such as 'Nada de na', 'Desde Brasil' and 'Taberna del Buda' itself. And now, they have decided to retrieve the spirit of those songs which 'scripted' exotic, clandestine, roguish travelling stories that they still sing, and which from now on they'll sing with titles such as 'Alma negra', 'La Jamaicana', 'Manhattan', 'Ven a ver amanecer'... Because Manhattan is a journey that navigates and stops at 10 excessive, captivating ports of call that conquer optimum states of mind. Café Quijano has done it again... they've made a huge, inspired, profound, festive record... and what is more important, they've produced a record that converts Latin music, once again, into a timeless, enduring and immortal artistic ritual with which we are all going to feel, dance and celebrate again.
