A few days before Christmas, a little white kitten called Marusia arrived at the Winter City. She soon found a friend: Andrei, a little kitten, who was also lost, like her. After playing for some time, Andrei invited Marusia to go with him to protect the Winter Palace. When the doors of the Palace closed, only kitten like them could protect the paintings and the sculptures, their colours and all the stories they held. But Christmas day arrived, and with it Leky the revolutionary rat, who came to disturb the status quo.
